VOLUME XV

COLUMBIA, ADAIR COUNTY, KENTUCKY, WEDNESDAY JUNE 26, 1912.

NUMBER 34

A QUIET AFFAIR.

Miss Lula Allen, a Popular Teacher, Married to Mr. L. O. Taylor, Last Wednesday Afternoon.

Quite a number of friends assembled at the residence of Mr. L. L. Eubank, last Wednesday afternoon, at 3:30 o'clock to witness the ceremony of marriage, the vows being taken by Mr. L. O. Taylor, one of Adair county's best young men, a gentleman of high character and standing before his fellow men, and Miss Lula Allen, a popular and cultured teacher, whose home has been Columbia since childhood.

The ceremony was pronounced beautifully and solemnly by the pastor of the contracting parties, Eld. Z. T. Williams, of the Christian church, and immediately thereafter the couple left in company with Mr. Ray Conover and Miss Ada Feese, Mr. O. A. Taylor and Miss Jessie Taylor, brother and sister of the groom, for the home of the groom's mother, Mrs. Ada Taylor, near Montpelier, where the wedding supper was served.

In testimony of the popularity of this very excellent couple, many presents were received.

The News extends its greetings, trusting that happiness may attend them from the altar and all during the days and years of their lives.

For the present the couple will board at the Hancock Hotel, and later will begin housekeeping in Columbia.

Adjudged Insane.

We regret to chronicle the intelligence of the unfortunate condition of Rev. T. F. Walton, who was adjudged insane last week at Burgin, Mercer county, and sent to the asylum. Rev. Walton was pastor of the Presbyterian Church here about twelve years ago. It is our understanding that he has been in very poor health for some time, and his physical condition, it is believed, brought on insanity. His last charge before going to Burgin, was Bradfordsville. The people here feel the deepest sympathy for the unfortunate minister, who has many friends in Columbia.

Teddie Slays the Trusts.

Teddie of the trusts did say
Like Sampson, I my thousands slay.
O yes, cried Taft, indeed you do
You have the selfsame weapon too.
You honeyfugle, buck and paw,
All donkey's heads are mostly jaw,
And of the bosses let me tell
You take 'em fried or in the shell.
You long to own our Ship of State
And claim for booty all her freight,
But at Chicago you will feel,
A strong desire for the square deal.
Let each receive due homage then,
For we're primary gentlemen.
Though devious ways we oft pursue,
We love our country that we do.
We have the roller, you the steam,
But don't we make a bully team?
All this is lovely, but you see
We're running of the G. O. P.
J. T. Jones,
Montpelier, Ky.

This paper desires to extend its profoundest sympathy to Mr. S. C. and Mrs. S. C. Pemberton, of Horse Cave, who were recently bereft of their beloved son, Tom B. Pemberton, who died a few days ago at Bowling Green. "Tom," as he was familiarly called, was a born gentleman, a friend to every body and everybody was his friend. He was known to a great many Columbians—his father, also, having a number of friends in Adair county. The deceased leaves five or six brothers besides his parents. A majority of the brothers are stock dealers and have often been on this market.

Mr. Charles Herriford, who was on a business trip to Marion county, got badly hurt accidentally, last Tuesday. He was driving on the Miller pike, near St. Marys, when his buggy was struck and upset by a motorcycle. Mr. Herriford's left shoulder and left arm were badly bruised. He was attended by Dr. H. P. Smock, and in a day of two was able to return home.

I have an extra milk cow with young calf for sale. Makes over a pound of butter per day. She is aberdeen and Jersey and but few better in every particular.

Commissioner's Sale.

ADAIR CIRCUIT COURT KENTUCKY.

W. H. Jones Jr., Plaintiff
Clyde & Majorie Eubank, Deft.

By virtue of a Judgment and Order of Sale of Adair Circuit Court, rendered at the May Term, thereof, 1912 in the above cause, I shall proceed to offer for sale at the Court-house door in Columbia Ky., to the highest bidder, at Public Auction, on Monday the 1st day of July 1912, at one o'clock p. m., or thereabout (being County Court) upon a credit of six months, the following described property, to-wit: A certain tract of land situated in Adair county Ky., on the turnpike road, near the town of Cane Valley, and fully described by meets and bounds in the Judgment and order of sale, to which reference is made.

For the purchase price, the purchaser with approved surety or securities, must execute Bond, bearing legal interest from day of sale until paid, and having the force and effect of a Judgment. Bidders will be prepared to comply promptly with these terms.

W. A. Coffey Master Commissioner.

The P. H. Bridgewater farm, near Cane Valley, Adair county, will be sold by the heirs, at public sale, on a credit of six and twelve months, at the court-house door in Columbia, at the August county court.

About 100 acres in cultivation and about 90 fine timber. Good residence and other buildings. til Aug 1st.

Home as Heaven.

The earthly home is only a type. Our town is "a city of homes." In my Father's house are many mansions," said the homeless one of Galilee. Birds of the air had nests, foxes had holes in the ground, but he had no where to lay his head. John Howard Payne, who wrote "Home, Sweet Home," was also an exile, like his master. In a little village graveyard a tombstone to a mother has this homely epitaph: "She Made Home Happy." Sounds like Christ's "She hath done what she could." A real home is surely a happy place built on the hilltop of cheerfulness. No shadow rests there. Morning comes early; evening stays late. Life is a stormy sea, home a harbor.

I have a two-year-old Aberdeen at my farm that will serve at $1. He is a fine individual and superbly bred.

What'll We do to Them Next Year

The following article was contributed and was published last week, but the compositor overlooked setting up the name of the author, hence it is reproduced, as readers might have concluded that it was the voice of the paper:

"I feel a deep sympathy for some of the men who I have heard are going to be candidates for county offices next year on the republican ticket. If I am informed correctly the line will be strictly and distinctly drawn between the Taft and Roosevelt forces in Adair county, when the time comes for nominating a republican county ticket next year, and the first question that will be asked a republican candidate for county office, will be 'How did you stand in the Presidential race last year?' and upon his answer will determine whether or not he has any earthly showing to win. Under the direct primary law, the republicans of Adair county, will every one have a voice as to who our next county ticket will be, the matter of nominations will not be left to a packed convention or to the county committee, but to the will of the majority. We be unto the candidate who was not on the right side. Roosevelt men will number 3 to Tafts 2 in Adair county.
Fred McLean.

Meeting Closed at Glenville.

The revival meeting at Glenville which was conducted by Elds Z. T. Williams and Luther Young closed on Friday night of the 14th inst. The attendance was unusually good throughout the entire meeting notwithstanding the farmers were very busy. The visible results of the meeting were five confessions and one accession from another church.

The meeting was a spiritual uplift to the entire community and especially to the church.

Glenville that use to be called a tough place is now one of the most quiet and peaceful villages in the county. There is a fine lot of young people in the community that have an ambition to do something and be somebody in the world. There are more good teachers in that community than elsewhere in the county in so small a territory. Jan Dudley, Wesley Turner, May Upton, Brice Walker, Libert Webb, John Jones and Elie Strange. These are all I can think of but there may be others. There is a splendid citizenship there living in peace with each other and with the outside world. So Matthew Taylor would say.
W.

Rev. J. R. Crawford will preach at Carmel church next Sabbath morning. In the afternoon, weather permitting on the Griffin Springs hotel lawn, at 3:30 o'clock. And at 8 p. m., also on the lawn, will give an illustrated talk on the stereopticon views. Should the weather prove unfavorable for the open air program, the night service will be held in Asbury chapel.

Quite a number attended the open air meeting at the home of Mr. J. O. Russell last Sunday afternoon. Rev. Crawford preaching a most interesting discourse. There will not be an out door meeting the second Sunday in July. The services will be held at the church, and it will be a lecture, "A story of Christ," illustrated as told by General Lew Wallace, in his book, "Ben Hur."

A Good Citizen Crosses the Divide.

Last Thursday morning, at 7 o'clock, Mr. Cyrus Roy, who lived on the Russell Springs road, eight miles from Columbia, passed over the river of Death.

The deceased was one of Adair county's best citizens, and will be greatly missed not only by those who were near to him by the ties of blood, but by the entire neighborhood where he resided from early manhood to old age. He was a very hospitable man, kind and obliging, and for many years he had been at peace with his God, and was ready when the summons came.

The deceased was a gallant Federal soldier, serving in the 13th Kentucky Infantry, Capt. O. B. Patteson's company.

The funeral services were largely attended, and the interment was near the residence.

Mrs. Bettie Butler.

Gard of Thanks.

J. W. Sublett, brothers, and sisters, want to thank their neighbors and friends for their kindness during the last illness and death of their father, W. B. Sublett.

The funeral of Mr. J. C. Muncie, who suicided at Edmonton, was preached by Rev. J. R. Crawford, of this place, who was in Edmonton when the fatal shot was fired. Mr. Crawford says that the deceased had been unbalanced, at times, for quite awhile, and that he was not responsible for the rash deed. His business affairs were in good shape, perfect harmony prevailing between himself, wife and children.

Last Wednesday at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Smith, Campbells-ville, their daughter, Miss Candace Hord Smith and Mr. Grover C. McCaughan were married in the presence of quite a number of relatives and friends. They are now on a bridal tour and in a few days will be at their home Laurel, Miss. The bride is a cousin of Mrs. Rollin Hurt, this place.

The steam roller which is to put the pike in good condition, reached Campbells-ville more than a week ago. It has been doing some work on the streets of the capital of Taylor, and in a very short time will begin operations on the pike. It is our understanding that Mr. Gowdy is determined to make the travel easy between Columbia and Campbells-ville.

On the eighth page of this paper can be found the speech delivered before a Democratic State Convention, by Gov. J. R. Hindman, who seconded the nomination of Hon. P. Watt Hardin, for Governor, a number of years ago. It is full of fun.

Union Sunday-School Convention for Adair county will be held at Mr. Pleasant July 20th and 21st.

Last Wednesday Mr. Walker Bryant, county court clerk, issued three marriage licenses. To the first gentleman it was his first application, second, the second, and third, the third. A few days ago Mr. J. B. Beard, of near Coburg, met with a very serious accident. He was driving nails when one flew and struck him in the right eye, destroying the sight. Mr. Beard was a great sufferer for several hours.

Mrs. George Cheatham, of this town, has a pumpkin that measures 44 inches in circumference. It was gathered last fall and apparently is as firm now as when plucked from the vine.

A young cyclone struck Neatsburg, Monday morning of last week, destroying the school building and doing considerable damage to fencing and other outbuildings.

The Farmer.

The farmer was once caricatured as the embodiment of ignorance and credulity. He was pictured as the prey of gold brick enders. He was thought to be totally without savior faire in personal conduct and far behind in a breast-of-the-times information.

But the day when such an idea of the former had such application is gone and evidences that it is gone are to be found everywhere.

Here is a very recent one:

"Questions asked the prospective jurors thus far have disclosed the fact," says a newspaper dispatch of the trial of the packers of Chicago, "that farmers are closer readers of the news papers, than are persons who live in the city. As a result the lawyers have found that men from the rural districts as a rule have divided opinions on government regulation of business and in many cases are better versed in the intent and meaning of the Sherman act than many of their city neighbors."

The old notion of a farmer was always a gross exaggeration. Now it is too far away from the truth to arouse even a smile.

The farmer knows fewer things than does the city man, but what he knows he knows thoroughly and not superficially. Superficial knowledge is characteristic of dwellers of the city, particularly of the large cities.

The newspaper is the one best means of conveying information, not only of current events but of the course of developments whether the developments be commercial, civic or political.

The farmer, cut off from the many distractions of city life, not only reads his newspapers, but he studies it. He thinks on his own account.

And thus his grasp of public questions equals where it does not exceed that of the average city man.

Causes of the Trouble.

A copy of a manifesto issued by the Cuban negro, just received explains the cause of the present trouble in Cuba better than any other document or article that has so far been published. According to this manifesto the cause is the enactment of a law prohibiting the negroes from organizing political parties along racial lines. The reason for this law is found in the fact that about 80 per cent of the of Cuba is colored," either pure negro or blood mixture; and that this 80 per cent. could easily control the government of the island were it permitted to organize for this purpose. The law is intended to secure control of government to the Spanish element of the population, notwithstanding Cuba is a republic.

The manifesto further claims that it was the negroes of Cuba who drove the Spanish from the island with the assistance of American forces; that for this service the negroes should be entitled to a voice in the government of the island in proportion to their numbers and interests; that this is practically denied to them and for this reason they oppose the Morna law whose abrogation they demand, as well as larger participation in governmental affairs. It is significant that the Veterans' association composed of colored troops participating in the War with Spain, is the nucleus of the present revolt against the Gomez government.—Ex.

Advertising "Our Town."

Do you take pride in your town? In speaking of it and working for it, do you say "our town?" When you say "our town," the expression has a different meaning from what it does when you say "the town," "this town" or "your town."

Practice saying "our town," until you can give it a musical and attractive sound that is confidence inspiring and means the true loyalty of a citizen.

There is a big difference placed on the meanings of words by the tone in which they are expressed. Some people can say "come in," in a tone that means stay out more than it does come in.

In speaking of your town, make every word mean confidence, loyalty, prosperity, welcome, and you will have a town that exhibits all these.—The Retail Merchant.

His Good Name.

William Dean Howells, the novelist, recently gave to a promoter an answer that might well be impressed upon the mind of every young man. According to a story by the New York Times Mr. Howells was offered the presidency of a mining company. "But, sir," Mr. Howells protested, "I know nothing about mining or finance."

"Oh, that makes no difference," the promoter replied. "We won't expect you to do any work. We only want to use your name, you know."

But Mr. Howells shook his head.

"No," he said, "No, I must decline. If my name is so well worth using, it must be equally well worth protecting."

Editor News:—

After a protracted silence, no doubt relished by your readers, I again crave admittance to your columns; and cherish the hope that it may crawl down your columns by August the 15th, 1912.

After filling principalship of Henrietta High School for several months, I am now on my farm with those of my family at home.

If I have any friends in the land of my birth, it is my pleasure to inform them that my oldest son, W. E. White, won a $20 orator's medal in a trial of forensic skill when 12 contestants and four high schools were represented.

My second son, Lucien, is holding down a good job at Knightdale, N. C., while my only daughter, Pearl, after graduating at Dorland Institute, has a government job at Johnson City, Tenn.

As this is a political year, allow me to say, that with due apologies to Champ Clark and his "houn dawg," I am for Wilson for President; and North Carolina so instructed.

Clark is my second choice, but alas! I have no "dawg."

I keep horses, cattle, hogs, hens, ducks and guineas, but am too poor to own a dog. This being the case, I am out of harmony with my neighbors.

North Carolina prefers dogs and ignorance to sheep and education.

We had a primary recently, in which we nominated legislators, and county and township officers.

One candidate was a lawyer, who was for Simmons, our present United States Senator, who helped boost Lorimer, and who voted 19 out of 43 votes for "protection." We saw that he hit the dust. The man who defeated him was "agin" everything his opponent wanted, and that is about all the platform he has. We expect nothing of him except to shoot when we hold him. A third candidate was for a whipping post, for giving the "squires" more power, and making every man pay his debts. He nibbles ginger cakes and drinks water every time while his opponents are speaking, then he arises as one man and announces the three planks of his platform. He received 28 votes out of 2063 cast.

We have already three ways of degrading and punishing a man in Cleveland county. One is to fine or imprison him, a second is to send him to the Legislature, and the third is to electrocute him, but fines, imprisonment nor electrocution entail as deep a stigma of disgrace as going to the Legislature.

When a self-respecting citizen is mentioned for the Legislature, he either enters the ministry or leaves the state.

As weather, personals and farming seem popular topics in your columns, allow me to say we are now threatened with a "June freshet."

Crops are late, by reason of so much rain in winter and spring. Cotton is small, but an excellent stand. Oats and wheat are fairly good, and melons are late.

I have 300 hills of melons, that are late and small. The cold June weather has stunted cotton, sweet potatoes and melons.

It may be of interest to some people who know me to learn that I carded up my 55th mile post on June 8, 1912.

I am always glad to get the News; and to realize that my ancient friend, Dr. U. L. Taylor is alert and vigorous at over 80.

Where is that rollicking, giddy youngster, Dr. Wm. Voils? He must be about 106, and when I last heard of him, was playing leap-frog with his great grand children, reading without glasses and eating green apples. I hope is living and enjoying his period of adolescence.

It will be remembered that Methuselah lived 938 years after he was too old to pay poll tax; and 924 years was too old to work the road.

Here's hoping the doctor will live many more years.

Up to the Various States.

The two houses composing the "greatest deliberative body in the world," United States Congress, have concurred in their views as to the Bristow Constitutional amendment, which puts the question of the election of U. S. Senators by popular vote up to the 48 states now composing the nation: the legislatures of three fourths, or thirty six of these states must concur in this amendment, when it will become a part of the constitution. Following is the proposed amendment:—

"The Senate of the United States shall be composed of two Senators from each state, elected by the people thereof for six years; and each Senator shall have one vote. The electors in each State shall have the qualifications requisite for electors of the most numerous branch of the State Legislature.

When vacancies happen in the representation of any State in the Senate the executive authority of such State shall issue writs of election to fill such vacancies. Provided, that the Legislature of any State may empower the executive thereof to make temporary appointments until the people fill the vacancies by election as the Legislature may direct.

This amendment shall not be so construed as to effect the election or term of any Senator chosen before it becomes valid as part of the Constitution."

A constant endeavor should be made to render every home cheerful. In every heart there should reign innocent joy. There is often discontent and restlessness in homes, not for the want of virtue and prayers, but because the home lacks sunshine. Each member has his part in making or marring the happiness of home, yet we do not think any one can add to or take from its happiness as the mother. Where the mother is kind, patient and cheerful all the inmates of that home are apt to be contented and happy.

In one of the Denver high schools girls are being taught how to be good wives. The lessons will hardly be effective unless they include the folly of nagging.

Population of the World.

The total population of the world is now estimated at 1,700,000,000. This is based upon the most recent censuses, which all civilized countries now take with a careful estimate of the number of inhabitants of uncivilized lands. The proportion of the sexes is known for 1,038,000,000 of these, the ratio being 1,000 males to 990 females. The ratio varies considerably in different places. In Europe there are 1,000 men to 1,028 women; in Africa, 1,000 men to 1,045 women; in America, 1,000 men to 964 women; in Asia 1,000 men to 961 women; in Australia, 1,000 men to 937 women.

The highest proportion of women is found in Uganda, where there are 1,467 to every 1,000 men. The lowest proportion is in Alaska and the Malay States, where there are, in the former, 391, and in the latter 389 women to every 1,000 men.

No talents, no circumstances, no opportunities, will make a two-legged creature a man, without energy. The bright boys, the geniuses, who take first prizes at school, very often fall to the rear when they are exposed to the long and weary competition of real life. They lack endurance, or they fail in that energy of purpose which no native "smartness" will replace. It stands to reason that what may be very brilliant and expert in a boy is far different when measured by the standard of manhood. He who is content with the trivial triumphs of school days will have a poor chance in the rough and tumble of life, while energy and invincible determination will carry through the worst of dunces on to success.

A Thought For The Boys.

We do not see much written about wild, reckless boys, who deserve the sympathy, tears and prayers of every Christian man and woman. There is a period in the life of a boy when, if he makes a mistake, people or some classes, at least, are apt to magnify the same, and having the tact of being more critical than correct, the matter is announced to all the world, or to that portion in which the culprit dwells. That most angelic christian grace, Charity, fails to come to the trembling balance and weigh the burden upon the side of mercy, and so the boy is hooted and reviled as he goes "slipping down the ladder rung by rung," till he is eventually lost to love and trust. There is not a good christian woman on earth who cannot do good if she will only speak kindly and encouragingly to those wild boys and try to draw them into something that is good and noble. Make them realize that they have one true and sympathetic friend at least; one that will assist and defend in their darkest hours. Select some wild boy, give him good advice, lend him good books arouse the spirit of true manhood and try to impress upon him that,

"It is not all of life to live Nor all of death to die"

Wonders of Surgery.

Surgery has taken another advance step at the Johns Hopkins Hospital, where recently three patients suffering from tuberculosis of the knee have been cured after the infected joints were cut away and substituted by the same parts of a body of a patient in normal health who died from an accident a few hours before. Surgeons in Germany have also found the operation successful and have succeeded in putting back in place a finger which had been cut off by a machine, and after treatment, the finger grew again normally. Advanced surgeons are now trying to find a way to remove from the body lungs affected with tuberculosis and put in their place good lungs taken from the body of a patient who had no such infection but who died from some other disease or from accident. In an operation of this character the surgeons have already found that one infected lung could be entirely removed without causing the death of the patient, but prolonging life, even though the other lung was slightly infected.

Blugrass Crop Heavy.

The crop of blue grass seed which is ready to be gathered is considered the heaviest that has been raised for several years. Central Kentucky produces practically all of the blue grass of the world, and the crop of seed is one of important revenues of the Central Kentucky farmer. The annual production runs all the way from 300,000 to 800,000 bushels and this year it is estimated may make almost 1,000,000 bushels. The price varies from 40 or 50 cents to $1 per bushel. In view of the heavy crop the sales this year are starting at 50 cents a bushel as it stands in the pasture, the buyer doing the stripping. An acre of blue grass will produce from 15 to 30 bushels of seed, and as the reaping of the seed in no way impairs the value of the grass for graining purposes, the sale of the seed stands as a special premium paid annually to the owner of blue grass sod.

You Don't Know the Fish.

An Irishman was fishing in a river when it began to rain heavily. Pat, not desiring to get soaked through, sought shelter under a railway bridge spanning the river, and here he plied his rod with true Waltonic zeal, utterly regardless of the trains that incessantly thundered overhead. Presently another individual appeared on the scene and politely asked Pat what he was doing. "Fishing," was the laconic reply. The stranger laughed. "Pray what is the use of fishing under the bridge while such an infernal noise continues?" "Oh, shut up, man," replied Pat indignantly. "You don't know the fish. They'll come under here to get out of the rain!"

Tangier Island.

There is a little Island in Chesapeake bay, 125 miles south of Baltimore, where the world has stood still for more than a hundred years. Tangier island is five miles long and much less than a mile wide, but more than 1,500 people live on it. There is only one street, nine feet wide, and the houses are all built along this street with narrow canals of the deep water of the bay between each two houses. There is only one church presided over by a Methodist minister, and only one doctor, and there is no cemetery. The dead of each family being buried in the yard. There is no newspaper, no jail, no lockup and no lawyers or any need for them. Every body is deeply religious, and profanity is punished with a fine imposed by the deacon of the church.

The men go fishing and crabbing in sailboats early on Monday mornings and do not come home until Saturdays, when they have marketed their sea harvests in towns on the mainland. There are no gardens, no horses or cows, but plenty of chickens are raised. Fuel is supplied to the islanders by sloops, which come every month or so loaded with wood and anchor off Tangier, sending small boats piles with cordwood and kindling to every house by means of the little canals. The women wear sunbonnets and go barefooted, and there is an organ in nearly every home. Tangier was first settled by white people in 1666 and before that time was occupied by the Indians.—Exchange.

Loyalty in Business.

I have been in the business world for ten years and I have found that the greatest asset for one to have is loyalty to his work.

It makes no difference whether you are a clerk, stenographer or stock buyer. Loyalty to your work will advance you quicker than any other asset.

Let us see what it will do. It will hold your attention to your work, to your employer and his interests, and to anything which pertains to your work.

It will keep you ahead of your "job," so to speak. It will call attention to ways and means which will help you and will make you give your best at all times. In other words, it insures your advancement.—Marie Rose, Janesville, Wis.

Discovers Cause of High Prices.

Among the witnesses who appeared before the New York food investigating commission was H. B. Fullerton, a truck farmer at Riverhead, L. I. He said he decided to follow his products from the soil to the door of the consumer and find out if possible how it happened that he received a low price for what cost the public a lot of money. He found five middlemen between himself and the consumer. "Two of them with no office but their hats and lead pencils," as he puts it, and he decided to try an experiment. He packed several hampers full of attractive varieties of vegetables and sent by express to a selected list of consumers. With the hampers he sent a card saying: "These vegetables are fresh from the garden and have not been handled by five sets of middlemen. They are quoted in the market to-day at $3. If you keep them please remit $1.25. In every case the hampers were retained and the money sent, the consumer thus getting the better products at less than half the retail price. The express charge was 25 cents. After deducting that, Mr. Fullerton netted $1, which was more than he formerly got from commission men. All right for producer and consumer, but what becomes of the five middlemen? They may have to go to work.

Brief Wills.

Probably the briefest document ever probated as a will was a signed and dated memorandum. "Everything is Lou's," written by decedent in a railway train record book kept by him; his widows' name being Lula. The instrument was held to be sufficient as a holographic will, however, in Smith v. Smith, 70 Southeastern Reporter, 491, by the Virginia supreme court of appeal. A note reading: "Dear Old Nance: I wish to give you my watch, two shawls, and also $5,000. Your old friend, E. A. Gordon"—was sustained as a will in Clard v. Ransom, 50 California, 505; and a dated and signed memorandum, "Mrs. Sophia Loeper is my heiress," was upheld in Succession of Shrenberg, 21 Louisiana Annual, 280.—The Docket.

We are authorized to announce J. A. Sullivan, of Madison county, a candidate for Congress in the Eighth District, subject to the action of the Democratic primary to be held August 3, 1912.

Harvey Helm.

We are authorized to announce that Hon. Harvey Helm, of Lincoln county is a candidate for Congress, in the Eighth district, subject to the Democratic primary to be held August 3, 1912.

The nomination of Pres. Taft and Vice Pres. Sherman for reelection, last Saturday, closed the most complete political round-up in the history of American politics and marks an epoch of disintegration, if not a complete overthrow, of the Republican party. Following an established custom of vindication, at the hands of his party, the President sought the second term but his ambition met the sturdy, undaunted, aggressive Roosevelt with his host of associates resulting in the most bitter and undignified campaign ever waged in this country. For a time it seemed that the administration forces were doomed to defeat and that Roosevelt would win in the last scoring, but there was a power whose partisan zeal for the President and his policies played the game which no opposing power could resist. The National committee, favorable to Taft, unquestionably was the electric button under the thumb of the President, through which his nomination was made a certainty and secured. It is not our business nor our purpose to criticize or condone the acts of that convention. Its history has been given through the city press as it was made and in every chapter clouds of suspicion hung over the victors and as given to the people the most besmirched nomination ever handed an aspirant for the presidency of this country. On the other side heroic efforts were made, founded and backed, so charged by extravagant and unwarranted claims under the name of honesty and a "Square deal." Mr. Roosevelt, on the scene of action, in charge of his own campaign, was "beaten to a frazzlé" but will lead the fight for "my policies" before the people of the entire country through commission of the third party to be known as the Progressives. Whether Mr. Taft was right or wrong at Chicago, whether Mr. Roosevelt is wise or unwise in his present course are questions to be settled at the voting booths next November.

On Monday Col. Jack Chinn withdrew from the fight for the Democratic nomination for Congress in this district leaving the race to Congressman Helm and Mr. Sullivan. This action came as a great surprise to the many friends of Col. Chinn in this part of the district who were giving him loyal support, not merely for the good expected of him in the future, but as truly for unwavering fidelity to our party interests in its troubles of the past. If there is a truer Democrat in the State, one who has faced more danger or made more sacrifices for the party than Col. Chinn, we have no knowledge of such a one. True to the party; true to friends; unflinching in battle, and unwavering in his active, loyal support to the Democratic party, he will merit any honor in the gift of the Democrats of the district. We are not informed as to his reasons for withdrawing, but be they what they may, Col. Chinn will ever have a warm spot in the affections of many true Democrats of Adair county. His active and effective work in assisting in the change of this county from the Eleventh to the Eighth Congressional district would have received ample expression of gratitude in the August primary, had he continued in the race. Under present conditions it appears that Mr. Helm will have everything his own way in this county, unless his opponent should make inroads after visiting this county. Mr. Helm's visit here; his speech in this town and his record in Congress, are factors that win votes.

A private detective employed by the local Council of women at Indianapolis announced that he had secured evidence upon which an indictment could be returned for the murder of Dr. Helene Knabe, who was found dead in her apartments last year.

President Taft has pardoned Franklin P. Mays, who was convicted of land frauds at Portland, Ore., in 1907, basing his action upon grounds that Federal prosecutors pursued improper methods in securing the man's conviction.

There are conflicting reports as to why Senator Bradley did not make a speech seconding the nomination of President Taft. One is that he was taken quite ill; the other, his speech too bitter in the judgment of Taft leaders.

The only time Mr. Taft failed to make a mistake when an opportunity was presented, so far as we know, was at Chicago and the truth is that may prove his crowning and last political blunder.

There is no doubt but Teddy dropped his hat in the ring, and it is just as evident that the standpatters would not let him reach and pick it up. The fact is, Teddy did not get near the ring.

It is predicted in Baltimore that the Democratic National Convention, which meets to-day will have a fight on its hands when efforts are made to nominate a temporary chairman.

The Republican National platform declares for high protective tariff, but fails to say a word against the trusts.

The Republican National Committee can't fix the people for Taft like it fixed the delegates.

Chicago was in the ring last week but Baltimore is on the map now.

This country is not yet committed to the Third Term policy.

The country is safe for the present.

Taft and Sherman.

From Sunday Courier-Journal
President William Howard Taft was renominated by the Republican National Convention in Chicago last night. Vice President James S. Sherman was named as his running mate. A platform was adopted which took a fling at some of Col. Roosevelt's pet principles of government and ignored others. The convention was in session continuously from 10 o'clock yesterday morning until about 11 o'clock last night, all the Taft delegates being seated according to the findings of the National Committee, which were followed by the Committee on Credentials. Only a few of the Roosevelt delegates participated in the convention, reserving themselves for the other convention which was to name the Colonel as their standard bearer. Cummins and La Follette received votes in the convention.

In the dying hours of the Republican National Convention, in which he had met defeat, former President Theodore Roosevelt was nominated for President on an independent ticket. The convention held in Orchestra Hall launched a temporary organization, and beginning to-day, it will be extended State by State with the purpose of holding a national convention in August.

President Taft's routine did not vary yesterday, despite the situation at Chicago, and he received the news of his renomination with his usual equanimity. He gave out a statement saying a grave danger to the nation had been averted.

Senator Bradley did not make his speech seconding the nomination of President Taft. Some of his friends say he was taken ill, while others declare his speech was too bitter in its denunciation of Col. Roosevelt.

Nearly 350 of the Roosevelt delegates declined to vote, and hastened away at adjournment time to tender to Col. Theodore Roosevelt the nomination of a new party.

President Taft received 561 of the 1,078 votes in the convention, or twenty-one more than a majority.

The decision of the Roosevelt people, under direction of their leader, to refrain from voting, left no other candidate near the President. The announcement of the Taft victory was greeted with cheering from his adherents and groans and hisses from the opposition.

When it became absolutely certain early to-day that Mr.

Taft would be nominated with out difficulty the leaders in control of the convention decided to give him as a running mate his companion on the ticket in 1908.

SHERMAN ONLY CANDIDATE.

All others dropped from the race, and Mr. Sherman was the only candidate regularly placed before the convention. A Motion from New Hampshire to make the nomination by acclamation was declared out of order. There were many scattering votes on the rollcall that ensued.

The convention, amid much confusion, adjourned sine die.

At no time was there an indication of a walkout of Roosevelt delegates. They expressed their revolt by silence.

In the confusion just before adjournment a resolution was adopted giving the National Committee power to declare vacant the seat of any man on the committee refusing to support the nominees of the regular convention of 1912.

Sherman's vote was 597.

President Taft was highly elated over the nomination, saying that a crises had been averted, it matters not what the result in November.

RECEIVES NEWS CALMLY.

Washington Correspondent to Courier-Journal says:

President Taft's routine did not vary to-day despite the news from Chicago. He talked with an occasional caller, signed a few letters and played golf this afternoon with his two sons, Robert and Charles. It was Charlie's first appearance on the Chevy Chase links against his father, and the President put up his best game just to show him how some strokes should be made by a golfer of some years' standing.

In spite of News that the convention was at a point where a nomination was in order, the President stayed on the links until long after 6 o'clock and then loitered back to the White House at the usual gait. He had a quiet family dinner in the White House, and later Mr. Taft sat on the south portico and read the convention bulletins. They were taken over from the executive offices one at a time and read aloud. The President was particularly interested in the news that Col. Roosevelt was holding a separate convention. He had no comment to offer, however, and heard the result from the regular convention with the same equanimity he has exhibited since the fight for his nomination began.

When the balloting began Charlie Taft assumed full control of the telegraph room at the White House. He read each bulletin as it came in, laughed when he saw the President was gaining, frowned when he wasn't, but sent them all post haste to his father. Miss Helen Taft was the only one of the family missing, and she is out of town.

Secretary Wilson and Representative Hill, of Connecticut, occupied seats of honor in the main reception room at the executive office. Mr. Wilson could not find his glasses in the black alpaca coat he was wearing, so Mr. Hill read the bulletins to him.

Mr. Geo. E. Wilson has rented Mrs. Bettie Butler's residence and has moved into it. Mr. Hanks Goff will occupy the residence vacated by Mr. Wilson.

Evidently there will be a scrap at Baltimore over the election of temporary Chairman. Mr. Parker, of New York, has been selected by the committee, but Mr. Bryan and the Wilson forces will oppose him. It is claimed that he is not a progressive, but in every national convention he has left his own State and made speeches in other territory for the Democratic ticket. He was also a member of the platform committee four years ago, upon which Bryan made his race. Little differences should be laid aside at Baltimore, and perfect harmony should prevail.

The Democratic Convention at Baltimore now in session, may prove a lively gathering and may create some heat along the line of debate. It may also surprise the country in making its nominations but one thing seems certain, it will evidently escape the odium of theft and robbery as no chances for steal or holdup is afforded by contesting delegations. Under present conditions it bids fair to offer the voters of the country and able, progressive nominee with no taint of fraud on his commission.

The House Pension Committee reported favorably the bill recently introduced jointly by Representatives Langley and Russell, making the provisions of the Sherwood dollar-a-day pension bill apply to veterans of organized Union Militia, and affecting about 3,000 persons in Kentucky and other states.

A Permanent Cure For Chronic Constipation

Although those may dispute it who have not tried it, yet thousands of others, who speak from personal experience, assert that there is a permanent cure for chronic constipation. Some testify they were cured for as little as fifty cents, years ago, and that the trouble never came back on them; while others admit they took several bottles before a steady cure was brought about. The remedy referred to is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It has been on the market for over a quarter of a century and has been popularized on its merits, by one person telling another. The fact that its strongest supporters are women and elderly people—the ones most persistently constipated—makes it certain that the claims regarding it as a permanent cure for constipation have not been exaggerated.

It is not violent like cathartic pills, salts or waters, but operates gently, without griping and without shock to the system. It contains tonic properties that strengthen the stomach and bowel muscles so that in time medicines of all kinds can be dispensed with and nature is again solely relied on. Among the legions who testify to these facts are J. P. Blankenship, Sharon, Tenn., and Beulah L. Rogers, Kosmosdale, Ky., and they always have a bottle of it in the house, for it is a reliable laxative for all the family from infancy to old age.

Anyone wishing to make a trial of this remedy before buying it in the regular way of a druggist at fifty cents or one dollar a large bottle (family size) can have a sample bottle sent to the home free of charge by simply addressing Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 405 Washington St., Monticello, Ill. Your name and address on a postal card will do.

High Prices.

It costs more to live in this, the month of June, 1912, than ever before in the history of the United States, except perhaps during wartime. Prices were high a year ago, but to-day they are on the average nearly ten per cent, higher according to trade authority quotations. Food products are the highest on record. Meat, eggs, butter, fish, coffee, tea, sugar, salt, molasses, rice, beans and peas average twenty-two per cent. higher; wheat, corn, oats, barley, flour, etc., thirty-three per cent. higher. Fruits are the only things good to eat that have grown cheaper during the last twelve months, but they are still higher than in 1910. Leather products cost twelve per cent. and chemicals and drugs thirteen per cent. more than a year ago. Textile goods, however, are a trifle cheaper. Economists differ as to the reason for the general upward tendency of all commodities during recent years, which has been world-wide.

Bad Spells

"I suffered, during girlhood, from womanly weakness," writes Mrs. Mollie Navy, of Walnut, N. C. "At last, I was almost bed-ridden, and had to give up. We had three doctors. All the time, I was getting worse. I had bad spells, that lasted from 7 to 28 days. In one week, after I gave Cardui a trial, I could eat, sleep, and joke, as well as anybody. In 8 weeks, I was well. I had been an invalid for 5 weary years! Cardui relieved me, when everything else failed."

Some Don'ts for Wives.

A few "don'ts" for wives were given by the Rev. Dr. W. W. Bustard, pastor of the Euclid avenue Baptist church, of which John D. Rockefeller is a member, in his sermon Sunday night. Some of them follow:

Don't marry a man for a living, but for love. Manhood without money is better than money without manhood.

Don't overdress or underdress; common sense sometimes is better than style. A wife with a hobble skirt and a husband with patched trousers make a poor pair.

Don't tell your troubles to your neighbors. Fight it out with your husband if it takes all summer.

Don't nag. The saloonkeeper is always glad to welcome your husband with a smile.

Don't forget that home is woman's kingdom, where she reigns as queen. To be the mother of a Lincoln, a Garfield, a McKinley, is to be the mother of a prince.

Surest Test of Old Age.

The dear little old lady was just as cross as she could be!

All because the old-fashioned conductor had said: "Be careful. Watch out, grandma."

Don't get off the car till its stops."

It was probably the first time that from the lips of a stranger came the verdict that the world had begun to look upon her as an old lady.

She must have known that her shoulders were a bit stooped—but old? No, not just in the prime of life, and the very idea of that man calling out: "Watch out, grandma!"

But after all, what matters what the conductor said? There is a rumor of inner consciousness that should tell one if one is growing old.

"Don't look at your face to see if age is creeping on. Watch the heart. Beware of allowing care to make crows feet there."

Oliver Wendell Holmes summed up the philosophy of life when he said: "I am seventy years young today." Every birthday should see one's heart younger. The only way to keep from growing old is to keep growing young. The only time to begin growing young is before one begins to grow old.

There are mental attitudes and limping worse than those of a faltering foot. There are aches and pains caused by selfishness and narrowness much worse than those of rheumatism. Begin this moment to grow young.

Freedom and License.

The Richmond, Va., Evening Journal was indicted for sending obscene matter through the mails the matter being complete reports of the testimony on the trial of Henry C. Beattie, Jr., for the murder of his wife, and the case was called before Federal Judge Waddell at Richmond. There was no dispute as to the sending of the testimony in the columns of the paper through the mails, but the Journal insisted that it had the right to print and publish testimony given in open court on the trial of a case and that any other ruling would be an infringement on the freedom of the press.

Judge Waddell upheld the contention of the Journal, and the indictment was quashed. It was, no doubt, a right ruling. If courts should be allowed to draw the line so closely as the United States claimed on the trial of the Journal, the lines would speedily come to be drawn according to the political leanings or holdings of the administration that might be in control of governmental affairs. The statements published by the Journal were transcripts of the testimony taken during the progress of the trial. In that sense they were legitimate items of news, and the freedom of the press warranted their publication, though a due regard for the proprieties ought to have kept the objectionable matter out of the columns of the Journal as it was kept out of the associated press reports and out of other Richmond papers.

In quashing the indictment Judge Waddell said that "reputable newspapers would be governed by common decency in acting under the confirmed right of freedom of the press." He was right in that also. Very much of the testimony on the trial of Beattie was unfit for publication and ought not to have been published. The Journal exercised its rights under the guaranteed freedom of the press. But there is a distinction between freedom and license.—Owensboro Messenger.

Due to Lack of Advertising.

Thirty or forty years ago the Mammoth Cave shared honors with Niagara as a point of interest for travelers. No American felt that he knew his own country till he had visited the wonderful opening in the earth. No foreigner visiting the United States was expected to return to his own land without seeing and exploring the cave. It was one of the features of illustration in school geographies. It furnished a subject for countless magazine writers and illustrators.

Now, we never hear of the Mammoth Cave. Public attention is called to the fact that the monster hole in the ground "is still there" by the announcement of change in ownership, the former proprietors finding that all profits on their investments had vanished.

The fact is, the Mammoth Cave has not been advertised in recent years. It is just as wonderful as it always was. But, somehow, practically all attempts in the way of advertising it have ceased. Just why this is, it may be impossible to say. But the fact remains.

Carry Cheer Into the Stable.

A cheerful spirit carried into a stable full of stock will make that place just like itself. Did you ever think of it? A sour, unhappy expression, and roughness when opening the stable door, will put every animal on the defensive, ready to kick and resent. Besides, good cheer is distinctly advantageous in the production of meat, milk and wool. The milker who "croons to the cow" is encouraging her to do her best. The same rule applies to the family and help. Let happiness and cheer predominate everywhere, day by day.—Farmer's Home Journal.

Want Homes.

The Kentucky Children's Home Society has a great many little people needing homes. They have quite a number of attractive babies, as well as older children of both sexes up to 13 and 14 years of age.

The children are expected to be treated as members of the family, sent to school, Sunday-school, etc. We only place our children with christian families.

If any of the readers of this paper can give a child a home and would like to take a child to raise, if they will write to the Kentucky Children's Home Society, 1036 Baxter Ave., Louisville, Ky., they will take the matter up with them.

CAUSE AND REMEDY.

Uncertainty of the immediate future is looked upon by many men of affairs, as a blockade to enterprise and business prosperity, and this blockade is now quite apparent throughout the channels of trade.

The Presidential Election; the efforts of Congress with no fixed purpose; Organized Labor as a new factor in politics; together with other matters of greater or less import, represent at this time a chaotic conflict of separate interests, to harmonize which is now the problem before the country.

All want Prosperity, Peace and Plenty. Read with care the Cincinnati Enquirer, a journal that prints all the news each day from every commercial center throughout the world. A barometer of causes and effects that points out, as a Beacon Light, the danger and the safeguard therefrom.

As well known, the Daily Enquirer is the largest in size and highest priced paper in the United States, yet cheapest, measured by quality and quantity.

The Weekly Enquirer, with the cream and digest of all the news, able and conservative editorials, market reports, methods and results from Government and State Experiment Stations, veterinary matters, People's Forum, choice literature, short and continued stories, non-sectarian sermons, general information, etc., with the exclusion of all matters of scandal and immorality, is today the Cleanest Weekly Family Journal obtainable. Each issue is alone worth the price of a year's subscription.

Solicitors for subscriptions make a handsome profit and increase the good influence of The Enquirer in the uplift of morality and industry, and for the betterment and welfare of the community. For terms write to The Enquirer, Cincinnati, Ohio.

Church Steeples.

There is a theory which finds the spire of the New England meeting house in the mountain peaks of Arabia.

Tracing back the process of evolution, we come first to London, where the clean sweep of the great fire gave Sir Christopher Wren his opportunity to experiment in steeples, and then Venice, where the campanile is a shining example of a tower besides a church, but separate from it, and then to Alexandria, where the famous light house on the isle of Pharos contributed to the religion of Mohammed both the form and the name of the minaret, and then to the tower of Babel at Borsippa and the zikkurats of the temples of Babylonia and Assyria. A zikkurat is a huge quadrangular mass of brick, rising in diminishing stories—as a child places a big block on the floor and put a smaller one on it and on that smaller still—and ascended by a winding balustraded stair to a shrine on top.

This, according to the theory, was the ritual equivalent of a mountain.

Into the flat lands between the Tigris and Euphrates came the ancestors of the Babylonians and Assyrians out of the mountains of Arabia. There they had worshipped the storm god, who dwelt upon the heights among the clouds, with whom they communed, like Moses, by climbing up and making their offerings and saying their prayers upon the summit. And because there were no mountains in their new country they erected beside every temple a little mountain in the yard. Thus the zikkurat, and then the minaret, and then the campanile and then the steeple of the parish church.—George Hodgson in Atlantic Magazine.

What the Mosquito Cost.

The foremost authority on the mosquito, Doctor Howard, of the Department of Agriculture, has more than once called attention to the enormous money losses caused by mosquitoes. It appears that the value of real estate in regions infested by them is reduced beyond calculation. The development of one whole state—New Jersey—has been held back by the pest.

In many states lands eminently fitted for grazing and dairying cannot be effectively used for such purpose because of attacks of mosquitoes on the cattle, thus reducing the yield of milk. In the vicinity of New York and Philadelphia there are large areas of land rendered almost uninhabitable by swarms of these insects, notwithstanding the destruction of their breeding places.

In some parts of the northwestern states horses must be covered in the daytime with sheets to protect them from attacks of mosquitoes. It has been estimated that the cost of house screens in the United States is something like ten million dollars a year.

Young man if you expect to attain success you must work. Success does not crown the efforts of a boy who runs away from school and shirks his lessons. Success does not crown the efforts of a youth who stands around the street corners smoking cigarettes and expectorating on the sidewalks. Success does not crown the effort of a man who stands around the corner of the street talking about his neighbors and whittling out a financial policy. Success is the legitimate result of labor and application to business.

Man Coughs and Breaks Ribs.

After a frightful coughing spell a man in Neenah, Wis., felt terrible pains in his side and his doctor found two ribs had been broken. What agony Dr. King's New Discovery would have saved him. A few teaspoonful ends a late cough, while persistent use routs obstinate coughs, expels stubborn colds or heals weak, sore lungs. "I feel sure it's a God-send to humanity," writes Mrs. Effie Morton, Columbia, Mo., for I believe I would have consumption today, if I had not used this great remedy. Its guaranteed to satisfy, and you can get a free trial bottle or 50 cents or $1.00 size at Paul Drug Co.

GOV. HINDMAN'S HIT.

The Reasons the People of the Eleventh District Want Hardin for Governor, Humorously Expressed.

The following speech was delivered by Gov. J. R. Hindman, of this place, seconding the nomination of Hon. P. Watt Hardin for Governor, in a Democratic State Convention, held about sixteen years ago. It is full of wit, and it caught the convention, keeping the delegates in an uproar during the whole of the time it took to deliver it. Governor Hindman said:

"Gentlemen of the Convention: I understood a short time ago that the gentleman who has been selected to second the nomination of Mr. Hardin would not be present, and I was asked on the part of the delegation from the county of Adair, the old home of Gen. Hardin, as well as on the part of the Eleventh Congressional district, which I believe stands solid in his support, to stand here and say a word by the way of seconding his nomination for Governor of this Commonwealth. You have all heard a good deal, I presume, about the Eleventh Congressional district. The Legislature of Kentucky at its last session undertook to corral all the Republicans in the Eleventh district, and corralled a good many of us good Democrats over there with them. I do not know much about the geography of that district, and I could not tell you exactly the number of counties in it but I believe it is somewhere between sixteen and sixty. (Laughter.) Neither have I studied its geographical boundaries, but I understand from gentlemen who are better informed than myself that it is bounded on the north by the State of Ohio, the home of Foraker and McKinley (laughter); that it is bounded on the northeast by the State of West Virginia, and the dividing line in the celebrated creek of Bull Skin, on one side of which lives the noted family of the McCays, and on the other the Hatfields. I understand that on the east it is bounded by the State of Virginia, the home of George Washington, Thomas Jefferson and Stonewall Jackson. Gentlemen who understand it better than I do tell me that it is bounded on the south by the State of Tennessee, the home of Andrew Jackson, James K. Polk, Bent McMillin and Col. Johnson, and they say that its extreme western boundary is a place known as Jackson's Purchase, the home of my distinguished friends, Hon. John W. Stone and Tom Corbett. I understand, furthermore, that it is bounded on the northwest by the fairest of all lands, the bluegrass country, a country whose fertility exceeds that of the Valley of the Nile, a land fairer than a dream, a land prettier than a poet's picture—the grandest spot in the world; a place where the women are beautiful and have nothing to do but to cultivate their beauty. (Laughter and Applause.) a place where the men have nothing to do except to stand and watch the bluegrass grow, to attend the races and run for offices. (Applause.) I have given you what I understand to be, perhaps, not a very accurate but the best I could do in the way of giving the geographical boundaries of that district I hail from that has sent me here to make this speech. As to the size of that district in geographical miles I do not know exactly. They tell me that it is bigger than Italy, which is talking of fighting this country. (Laughter.) They tell me it is not quite as large as Australia, but between the size of Australia and the Argentine Republic.

"Now as to what they have up there. The Eleventh district has the purest and clearest streams and more mineral wealth and braver and better fighting Democrats than any other place in this country. (Applause.) You gentlemen who live in the Democratic stronghold of the State do not know any thing about fighting. You take a Democrat from that famous host of Democrats in the county of 'Sweet Owen,' where he never saw a Republican, and he does not know how to fight them. You take a Democrat from the city of Louisville who does not know anything about fighting the common enemy, or from the county of Daviess or the county of Harrison, or any of these counties where they never had an old-fashioned party fight, and you put them in the county of Whitley where Finley lives, with two thousand Republican majority, or back over there in Harlan county where there are about nine hundred votes and seven hundred and fifty of them are Republicans, and let them tackle Billy Bradley on the stump before a crowd of that kind, and he will know something about what it is to fight Republicans in their stronghold. It won't be five minutes after he has undertaken a speech in this great educational campaign, surrounded by men who belong to the Great Army of the Republic and who have their pockets full of pension money, before that Owen county Democrat, or any other Democrat in Kentucky who has not been used to it, will feel the cold chills running up and down his back and his knees begin to quake worse than Belshazzar when he gave that lunch to some friends some time ago. (Laughter and applause.)

"These people have sent me here to make this speech. They are on the Tennessee border and have to spend a hundred dollars apiece in order to come here and stay at this convention. We knew that the convention was going to do right, which is all right (applause), but if there is anybody who ought to know how to preside, it is some man who has just come out of a twelve months' session of Congress presided over in a stronger and firmer manner than any other Congress since the world begun. Hardin did not know Goodnight was elected until it was all over and he saw him here, and we are all satisfied. I was talking to a man from Knott county the other day and he told me that he had to ride fifty miles on horseback to get here, and three hundred and fifty miles on the cars, and when he came here he had to shuffle around to find a place to stay, at a cost of three dollars and a half a day. It costs a true mountain Democrat in the fastnesses of our State more to attend a state convention and listen to the wrangles over difficulties that have been brought up in these strong Democratic strongholds, where they have to fight each other, than it cost a few years ago to buy a mountain farm in a great many of these counties.

"Now, do you know the reason why they have sent me up here to second the claims of Gen. Hardin? I will tell you. When we get in trouble over there we all send for him. (Applause.) Wherever the Hon. Wm. O. Bradley takes the stump and we want to see his vanity punctured, we send for Hardin and he has never failed to come. Whenever Finley gets on the rampage over there and is intimidating the few Democrats in that section and we want a man to roll a saw log over him and scratch him, we send for Watt Hardin. (Applause.)

"You ask me if Watt would make a good Governor, I say yes. In the first place his name is indicative of the fact that he would fill any position; and in the second place he was born and raised down in Adair county, where about every other man would make a good Governor (applause and laughter,) especially if you send him to Central Kentucky and let him get a little polish on him and some bluegrass shine. You make Watt Hardin Governor of Kentucky and you will have an honest, faithful man to hold the reigns of your Government for the next four years. He has the stalwart manhood that will cause him to scale the highest mountain to make a Democratic speech. He has that stalwart Democracy that never quails in the face of an honest enemy, and he has the ability to make you a good Governor." (Applause.)

We are having fine rains this week.

Judge N. H. Moss, of Columbia, was here Friday.

W. W. Yates came in from Edmonton Thursday.

C. O. Moss was in Greensburg last Thursday.

Mr. J. L. Durham, of Greensburg, was here the first of the week buying cattle at the market price.

Messrs. B. B. Janes and D. C. Wheeler were in Columbia a bay or so of last week.

Miss Clara Wilmore returned from Frankfort, Va., where she spent a few weeks visiting after the close of her school at Key West, Fla.

Mr. Escoe Reece and family spent a few days visiting relatives here last week.

The Gradyville baseball team crossed bats with the Edmonton team last Saturday.

Miss Mollie Flowers returned from Bowling Green last Thursday where she spent a few days visiting after the close of her school at Russellville.

Miss Florence Sherrill is spending this week with relatives and friends at Lebanon.

Mr. J. Walker, the well-known mill man of Columbia, was in our midst last Friday.

Miss Nora Sherrill is visiting friends in Columbia this week.

Mr. Charles Sparks made a business trip in the community of Breeding last week and made a deal for one of the best blind mules that ever came down the pike of the kind.

Wheat harvest is in full speed in this community this week and our farmers are satisfied that we have not over one-half of a yield but of a good quality.

Our old friend, Gov. J. R. Hindman, of Columbia, made his appearance in our town last Friday and as usual in a few minutes had quite a number of our people around him shaking his hand and hearing him talk. We are always glad when the Governor comes.

Mrs. W. L. Winters and daughter left for Owen county last Thursday, where they will spend several weeks visiting their relatives.

Mr. W. L. Fletcher has left in our office some of the finest heads of wheat that we have seen in this country for several years. The grains are very large and plump.

Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Moss, of Greensburg, stopped over for a night with their brother, Mr. C. O. Moss last week, while on their from Bakerton.

Mrs. W. H. C. Sandidge, of Greensburg, accompanied by her daughter, Mrs. Levi Tarr, and daughter, of New Mexico, spent a few days visiting their old friends in our city last week. We were all certainly glad to see them once more.

At the beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Nell, of our city, gathered about forty of their relatives and friends last Sunday.

The occasion was brought about in commemoration of the thirty-fifth anniversary of Mr. Nell. Your reporter has had the pleasure in the last forty years of attending several surprise birthday feasts, but we must say here that this occasion was something similar to the day of Penticost.

Instead of the good things diminishing they certainly increased. The last table of people that dined the good things could scarcely be missed from the bountiful table that had been prepared by Mrs. Nell, who is so well qualified to prepare things for an occasion like unto this day will long be remembered by every one present. Mr. Nell received many nice presents.

You carry Fire Insurance—and why?

Because of the danger of sudden loss.

Because it protects you against this uncertainty, although your buildings may never burn down.

Do you protect them against decay—against the weather—against the dead certainty of depreciation resulting from allowing them to go unpainted. Why not?

Paint Insurance is worth even more to you than Fire Insurance—yet is often sadly neglected—and you are the loser.

MASTIC PAINT for 33 years has proven the "real protector" of buildings. For quality—service—economy—and beauty of finish it has no equal. Ask for color card.

"The Flour with the Nutty Flavor"

It is made on a "Midget" Marvel Self-Contained Flour Mill—the last word in milling machines. All of the milling operations take place in this one machine. It is a sanitary mill, none of the product is touched by hand or comes in contact with the outside air. In this mill the wheat and flour travel less than twenty feet—instead of the hundreds of feet in the ordinary modern mill—with the result that this unusually short and quick system keeps the flour clear and free from impurities, preserving its natural creamy bloom and the volatile oils which contain the flavor and aroma of the crushed wheat are not evaporated. This flour has that sweet, rich, nutty flavor of the "Old Fashioned" stone ground flour. You will also notice this flour has more strength than other patent flour, it will rise quicker in the dough.

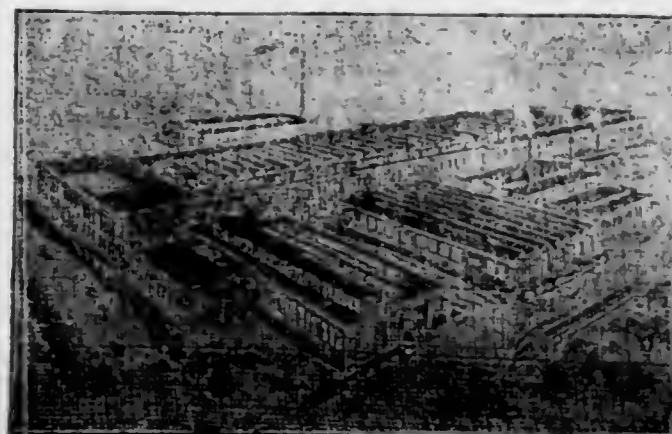

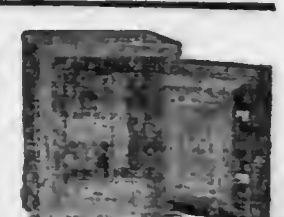

We most cordially invite you down to our plant to see this wonderful mill make "The Flour with the Nutty Flavor."
